

The coefficient of variation of service-level metrics is large under normal workload.

