

The peak lag between the request load and the resource response varies across metrics and user loads.

